

Name	Raunak Kumar	Year	2021-2024
Subject	Summer internship -II	Branch Class	Mechanical Engg.
Semester	5th Semester	Roll No.	511182521012

I N D E X

Sr. No.	Experiment Description	Experiment Date	Submission Date	Remarks / Signature
	Summer internship
	How important is it really to do an internship before applying before for a job?
	Page Page No. 01. to 02.
	Ask those in the know
	① Industry experience & exposure
	② Exploring career opportunities
	③ Learning about it
	④ Help in networking
	⑤ Learn from our mistakes
	Page No. 04. to 07.
	Internship: Getting our feet wet
	When to start looking
	How to get an internship insurance?
	Page No. 08. to 10.

An ISO 9001: 2015 certified

COMPLEATE DESIGN SOLUTIONS

Registered Under Ministry of Corporate Affairs, Govt. of India

Corporate Identification No. : U80904BR2021PTC054517

CERTIFICATE OF ACHIEVEMENT

Regd. No : CDS171388

Certificate No : 2022334

This is to Certify That Mr. Raunak Kumar, S/O Lallu Kumar Has Successfully Completed The Course of 4 WEEKS INTERNSHIP PROGRAM IN AUTOCAD IN MECHANICAL DESIGN At Our Authorised Study Centre - DESIGN INDIAS, Dak Bungalow Chauraha, Patna, Bihar And Having Found Candidate's Performance To Be "Excellent". Period From Nov, 2023 to Dec, 2023. This Certificate Was Awarded On 11/12/2023.

COMPLEATE
DESIGN
SOLUTIONS

MSME
MINISTRY
GOVERNMENT OF INDIA

Indrajeet Kumar
Director

Summer Internship

How important is it really to do an internship before applying for a job?

Internship not only provides us with the first hand experiences in the real working world but also enable us to understand the career trajectory for our desired job title.

We can learn how to apply the knowledge of acquire during an internship to our future workplace.

1. Taking Risks

As a first and second year experience, today we are in third year, it is important to begin taking some risks by facing the challenges it takes to land an internship or a job, reaching out to family, friends, previous teachers and employes is logical first step. Today, we may not know what type of internship we want connecting informational interviews will help us to get a better handle on specific careers as well as what employers look for when hiring talented new professionals.

2. Polishing up

Polishing up our resume and cover letter working on our resume and cover letter with a career counselor at our college will help us to create professional document that will make employes take notice. Although as a third year student we may feel that we have nothing to put on resume. After speaking to a counselor that we have nothing to put on a resume. After speaking to a counselor we may find that we have more things we can put down than we thought. A resume highlights previous and current experiences that provide employers with an outline of our skills and previous accomplishments. This may include high school & college course work, internship jobs, community services as a volunteer at a non profit organization.

Our career counselor can provide help with our resume and cover letter to ensure that our most relevant experiences stand out.

3. Using social media as a tool

One thing that all college students have as an advantage is their ability to utilize social media to their advantage. Social media to their benefits many companies seek students to help them with their more social companies since many of their more senior employees are not familiar and don't know how to use it to the company's advantage. Social media can also be a great way to get our name out there when seeking a summer internship or job.

4. Creating a blog or website

Many students today have their own blog and website. This is an excellent way to highlight our interests and skills by getting our name out there. Blogs are a good way to work to work on our writing skills and are a good way to showcase our skills for employers a college student for an internship or entry level job for some professional like photography, journalism etc. Having an online portfolio really gives an employer a good opportunity to learn more about candidates even prior to the first interview.

5. Career Explanation.

Even through first year student are often not yet sure to their major, first year gives them an opportunity to explore and research how specific majors relate to future career options when conducting this research student can also determine what type of internship other do to get some experience in the field they are looking to pursue.

6. The importance of internships.

In today's job market doing an internship is not just a good idea, it is a must in order to be considered for employment with certain companies, whether we are doing something more tangible by doing these experiences we are showing employers that we have the motivation and initiative to succeed on job.

Ask those in the know

We can also talk to our professors and other students to find out about internship that they know of our peers may be able to provide information on internship they have completed or heard about through one of their personal networks. Faculty maintain works with students all the time and often hear back from students on both the good & bad summer internship experience they had. Some faculty maintain a departmental website that include information on internship in the field, or they may just keep a list that they share with students in class or in one on one appointments.

Looking to future

We may decide to continue with our previous summer jobs the summer after our first year in college (and that's ok too) but it's important to give ourselves some time to try out different experience in order to decide which ones we would like to pursue when selecting a career following our college graduation.

How important are internship for campus placement?

The importance of an internship during our placement is unparalleled. Having past work experience in the industry of our choice is one of the most crucial areas that must be looked into seriously. Considering that just having past work experience in the industry of our choice is one of the most crucial areas that must be looked into seriously. Considering that just having a degree with a good CGPA is not enough for graduates to get a job after these days. Doing an internship is important as it equips us with the challenges we might face at work in the future and also helps people differentiate themselves from the crowd.

Further more, a lot of internship now offer us incentives and a fixed stipend, which can act as a motivation for us to constantly upskill yourself.

Why should we go for internships?

To help we understand the reasons we should apply for an internship and the role of an internship in getting our dream job, here are a few points that we must keep in mind.

① Industry Experiences and Exposure;

One reason why an internship is crucial for our career is that it provides us with relevant industry experiences and exposure. It is a known fact that theoretical knowledge is not enough. Hands on experience is crucial to ensure that we land a high paid job that is relevant to our skill set.

Doing an internship is a great way to apply the theoretical knowledge. We acquire during college and work under an experienced supervisor who monitors our performance, trains us and provide us with suggestions that help we improve our skill while bridging the gap between employers expectations and academic learning whether it is a paid or unpaid internship we should go for it and try to gain as much experiences as we can.

(ii) Exploring career opportunities

Doing an internship is important to considering that it helps us explore various career opportunities that match our skill set. There are numerous opportunities that freshers can get owing to their performance in an internship.

Automatically sometimes when students work in a specific field they realize that their chosen field is not something they would want to pursue in the long form. In such scenario, opting to pursue an internship can act as a trial ground for students for them, while they decide their goals their passion and choosing a company that they want to work in the long run.

(iii) Learning about it

Learning about company culture and soft skills a big advantage of working in an internship is that we not only get to improve our technical skills but also get to know about the kind of company culture our organization is building alongside learning soft skills like collaboration, communication, distribution of responsibility, leadership and teamwork. Post this we can actually make a decision if we want to join same company as a full time employee after our internship tenure.

④ Helps in networking

Another major reason we recommend doing an internship before applying for jobs is that we actually go on and develop a good network of people in the company or a different organization. If we are sincere toward acquiring skills and completing tasks in the best way possible people will actually endorse our commitment skills and punctuality which is a big plus point for those who do internships dedicatedly such positive feedback can actually help us to make good impressions during job interviews be it from a fellow employee a supervisor or somebody who has heading an entire department at a firm.

⑤ Learn from our mistakes

During our training period, we can get suggestion from our supervision for doing a particular task in multiple ways and even help us learn from our mistake. Learning from our mistakes refines our skill in the internship and they can be really helpful while we transition into a full time job. It helps you know about our skills, knowledge strength and weakness through which we can learn a lot and become a better professional.

So these were the four ways how internships can help us land a job in the future. Applying to internship can help us gain not only a bunch of skills but also a few other things that help us succeed as full time employees. During internship across multiple industries will be us gain a 360-degree idea.

Internships : Getting our feet wet

An internship is a wonderful hands-on way to learn more about a career field or job type and can be an important part of our university experience. Internships may be part of full time, paid, or unpaid, are offered by a wide variety of business and organizations and can sometimes lead to permanent positions.

An internship can help us in many ways:

- Experience in greater detail what a full time job in a particular career might be like.
- Strengthen our resume, even if we don't have recent experience, employers care whether we have worked in a related field before.
- Build confidence in our abilities.
- Meet people in the industry and build professional connections.
- Even if we come to realize we don't like a particular field or industry that piece of self knowledge can be externally valuable better to find out now instead of after our graduation. Explore internship opportunities that match our skills and career interests, but that also match and complement our academic program. Help us to be a new way or challenge us to grow in new ways. As we explore our options.

When to start looking

Internship are available during the summer months as well as academic semester. Internship during academic year should only be part time. Be sure to find out the expected time commitment during the search and interview process.

We can do an internship at any point while we are at BU, suggest however that students hold off until after their academic load, more and more we hear stories of recent graduates pursuing internship as a means to enter an industry. Many employees with formalized, competitive programs launch the selection process several months in advance, some might have application on deadlines a year or more out. For summer internship most employees start looking between late June and late August. Internship for the fall and spring are usually advertised either very early in the semester or late in the preceding semester, but sure to check while we will want to trailer it before applying for a specific internship. It is good idea to have our resume prepared and know the kind of experience we are looking for that way, we will be ready when opportunities arise.

How to get an internship in finance:

A finance internship is an excellent way to gain valuable experience in the finance service since the financial firms and enterprises are continuously on the look at of for analysis and adviser there are plenty of opportunities. An internship is the first step in establishing a successful long term career and it enables you to expand your Skill set. In this article, we discuss how to get an internship in finance along with its benefits.

How to get an internship in finance:

Here are a few steps that explain how to get an internship in finance.

1. Get relevant education

College education can help us in getting fundamental knowledge of finance and can prepare you to execute various financial processes. Employers usually seek candidates with a bachelor's degree in finance and getting this education degree in finance can increase our chances of getting entry into the field of finance.

2. Develop financial skills

Joining finance-related clubs in or outside your college is an excellent way to develop some essential financial skills (seminars) and network with individuals in the industry to learn from their experience. Besides, you may set up a trading account to put out financial abilities to the test. Regularly skills like planning, critical thinking and time management are essential in a finance role and we can work on building these skills by participating in various competitions and tournaments like stock pitch tournament in our college.

Make a resume.

Having good financial exposure on our resume can help us secure our ideal finance internship. We can mention our qualifications and skills along with achievements in our resume to create a lasting impression. We can customise our resume specific to the firm we are applying to increase our chances of landing the internship.

Apply for finance internship

Being our application process as early as our freshmen year. Apply for finance internship positions by sending our resume and preparing well for the interview process we may follow the below way to secure an internship.

- (i) Visit job sites like indeed.
- (ii) Use our college's career resource.
- (iii) Network with people and average it to find relevant opportunities.
- (iv) Reach out to company directly and send our resume.

How important is it really to do an internship before applying for job?

Internship not only provide us with the first hand experiences in the real working world but also enable us to understand the career trajectory for our desired job title. We can learn how to apply the knowledge we have acquired during an internship to our future workplace.

What is a finance internship

A finance internship is a programme available to graduate by businesses, NGOs and even government agencies. Internships in finance often last one to four months. But they may extend up to a year. Both the intern and the employee usually on the duration early in the process. A finance internship's aim is to familiarise us with the finance industry. Internships are critical in the early stages of establishing a successful career as a financial analyst. Internship are available to aspiring individuals enrolls in a bachelor's degree program during semester breaks we can find our internship in finance can help us gain relevant experience can aid in acquiring full-time employment in the financial industry.

Roles and requirements of finance intern:

Here are some roles and responsibilities of finance intern:

1. Gather, comprehend, process, verify and report accounting related information.
2. Complete professional analytical and managerial support work task.
3. Make spreadsheets database and other computer programs.
4. Manage specific data, report and form related to fees, billing and project tracking.
5. Input information into company's financial accounting system.
6. Input information into the company's financial accounting system.
7. Collect account information to reconcile financial inconsistencies.

Benefits of finance internship:

1. Improving our professional abilities:

One of the most valuable aspect of an internship is the opportunity to learn professional skills via observation & practice. These insights polish our professional ability for the future. An internship can teach us meeting stiquette and gives us the confidence to speak with individuals in top positions in a company when we meeting enter the job market after graduation these professional abilities can provide us with an edge over other candidates.

2. Assisting with the networking process:

Internship in finance are one of the most effective methods to expand our professional network. When working as an intern make connections with supervisors and coworkers. This can assist us in finding career opportunities after graduation.

3. Helping in recognising career path:

Doing an internship in finance can help us discover a suitable career path for us. Internship help in giving us exposure to various fields of finance and can help us decide which area we want to built our career an internship is an excellent opportunity to try out a career plan before looking for full-time employment after graduation.

4. Finding full time employment opportunity:

Employers invest a significant amount of time and money in educating intern. The company may prefer to see long term return on their investment than start an extended interview. During this period they assess how a candidate would do in real world. If may land we an opportunity to work full time with the employer.

5. How long do intern work?

The amount of hours interns work typically depends on when they pursuing it. Intern often work part time during the spring and fall while pursuing school and full time in the summer months. Employers are more flexible during the spring and falls since they assume participants having classes changing those times. An intern's hour also depend on the type of employer they have some employers may request a set amount of hours whereas others may allow flexibility as long as the intern complete their work.

Tips on how to succeed in our finance internship:

1. Set goals
2. Stay organised
3. Be professional
4. Fill our down time
5. Ask questions

Career prospects after a finance internship:

1. Financial Analyst: Primary responsibilities
2. Portfolio Manager: Primary responsibilities
3. Accountant: Primary responsibilities
4. Budget Analysts: Primary responsibilities

Benefits of internships:

- Job experience
- Mentorship
- Help guide career goals
- Create a professional network
- We can gain an unforgettable life experience
- Building a strong resume
- Secure good reference and recommendations
- We can make industry contact
- They look good on our resume
- We can convert our academic knowledge into industry
- This experience will narrow down our life of careers

Learning from internships:

- How to put my knowledge and skill into practice
- The benefits of networking
- Understanding workplace culture
- Enthusiasm is invaluable
- Keeping a journal is great for personal growth
- How important good communication is
- The benefits talking on feedback